MODULE:

Conversations about change

An Introduction to Motivational Interviewing

National Healthcare
Communication
Programme

Module

An introduction to motivational interviewing

Motivational interviewing is a conversation about changing healthcare behaviours. Its aims to explore and resolve ambivalence, provide a direction for change & strengthen a person's personal motivation.

This workshop supports participants to learn and develop communication skills for motivational interviewing. The communication skills for building rapport, demonstrating empathy, gathering and giving information were covered in Module 1 (Making Connections) and Module 2 (Core Consultation Skills) and in this module we are consolidating that learning with more in-depth teaching and practice sessions.

Educational methods

The workshops are grounded in educational theory, evidence-based best practice and experiential learning. Participants' own experiences in healthcare and the collective experiences of the group are used to enhance learning.

Context

Research evidence indicates that a healthcare team member's communication skills can have a profound impact on healthcare outcomes and on the experience of care for patients and their families. The ability of healthcare staff to listen, explain and empathise can influence the patient's capacity to follow through with treatment recommendations and empower patients and their families to find solutions to their health challenges. In addition, communication among healthcare team members can encourage good working relationships, job satisfaction and improve patient safety.

National Patient Experience Survey

The Results of the National Patient Experience Survey (NPES) provide acute hospital services in Ireland with tangible evidence about what matters to patients and their families, about their journey through Irish Hospitals and identifies areas for improvement.

The Programme

This Programme is designed to support healthcare staff to take a skilled, sensitive and person-centred approach to all conversations with patients, their families and with colleagues. The Programme is under-pinned by the Core Values of Care, Compassion, Trust and Learning.

How will it be delivered?

The Programme modules are short, intensive and practical. Delivery of the modules over nonconsecutive days will allow participants to do some on-the-job reflection between modules. In-house facilitators will deliver the modules with support from the National Programme.
