Re: PQ 19554/20

*To ask the Minister for Health his plans to address inadequacies in HSE diabetic care in County Clare and the UL Hospitals Group (details supplied); and if he will make a statement on the matter. - Cathal Crowe

Details Supplied: At present a HSE endocrinologist only takes Clare appointments one day a month, the UL Hospitals Group has no dietician and the UL Hospitals Group has the lowest number of diabetic specialist nurses of any hospital group in Ireland

Dear Deputy Crowe,

The Health Service Executive has been requested to reply directly to you in the context of the above Parliamentary Question which you submitted to the Minister for Health for response.

I can confirm that there is currently 1 WTE Consultant Endocrinologist in UL Hospitals Group (ULHG) and a further 1 WTE Consultant Endocrinologist is due to commence in ULHG in October 2020. The Consultant Endocrinologist has a commitment to Ennis Hospital one day a month, however, patients from the Clare region also attend UHL.

The service is supported by a dedicated team of Clinical Nurse Specialists and Staff Nurses. I understand that there is diabetic nurse support in St Johns, Ennis and UMHL. There are currently two diabetic CNS posts in UHL, 0.5 is shared with Nenagh hospital. There are also three specialist diabetic staff nurse positions within the diabetes unit.

Currently, the service is unable to commence adult patients on insulin pumps due to staffing deficits. We accept patients established on pumps from elsewhere and these patients are managed under the care of the Consultant Endocrinologist. The largest group of these patients are those who have transferred from the Paediatric Diabetes Service in University Hospital Limerick (UHL). All of our insulin pump patients are seen in UHL.

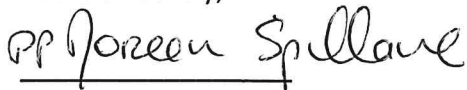

OPD diabetic clinics take place in UHL, Ennis, Nenagh and St. John's Hospital. Pre Covid there was an average of 2 diabetic clinics per week across ULHG and plans are underway to resume these clinics in line with Medicine's Covid-19 re-emergence plan.

There are two consultants and a specialist dietitian working with our paediatric diabetes patients. However, there is currently no specialist dietitian in post for adults with Type 1 Diabetes. Patients are seen by a ward dietician as in-patients but there is no specialist care or out-patient appointments for diabetes patients in UHL. Approval is required nationally before we can progress recruitment for this post. We have identified this as a significant gap in our service and we are committed to addressing this.

I trust this clarifies the position, please contact me if you have any further queries.

Yours sincerely,

Colette Cowan
Chief Executive Officer
UL Hospitals Group
