13th October 2020,
Deputy Denise Mitchell,
Dail Eireann,
Dublin 2.

PQ Number 27297/20

To ask the Minister for Health the number of beds available in crisis mental health services by CHO in tabular form.

Dear Deputy Mitchell,

The Health Service Executive has been requested to reply directly to you in the context of the above Parliamentary Question, which you submitted to the Minister for Health for response. I have examined the matter and the following outlines the position.

Public Mental Health beds include both Approved Centre beds and Community Residences. Each approved centre is registered for a particular number of beds. (see table below).

HSE Mental Health services manage bed capacity in local areas according to clinical need. The bed capacity is described below.

The table below provides information on the number of beds in CAMHS Inpatient, General Adult Approved Centres and Community 24 hour residences. There are also additional Medium and Low Support Community Residences at CHO level either directly provided by the HSE or through Housing Agencies.

	CAMHS IP Units		Adult Approved Centres		Community 24 hour residences
	Units	Beds	Units	Beds	Units	Beds
CHO 1			4	107	14	145
CHO 2	1	20	8	175	12	101
CHO 3			4	128	8	110
CHO 4	1	16	9	342	17	235
CHO 5			8	220	19	244
CHO 6			3	137	3	53
CHO 7	1	24	3	128	8	101
CHO 8			6	226	12	138
CHO 9	1	12	7	226	17	211

In addition to the information previously provided above I note:

It is recommended that approved centres operate at 85%, however there are times when they operate above this. Capacity increases or decreases based on the needs of the population and it is important that units maintain capacity to respond to urgent cases.

The national in-patient census of 2018 showed overall acute mental health bed occupancy levels to be 89.25%. This paper shows that only nine of the 28 acute units operated at less than 85% level of occupancy. One quarter of the 28 units had true bed occupancy levels equal to or over 100%.
