PQ Question: To ask the Minister for Health if the HSE has made accommodation for the provision of a new 10-bed inpatient adult eating disorder service; if a location has been found; when it will open; and if he will make a statement on the matter. -Mark Ward

Dear Deputy Ward,

The Health Service Executive has been requested to reply directly to you in the context of the above Parliamentary Question, which you submitted to the Minister for Health for response. I have examined the matter and the following outlines the position.

Eating disorders have the highest mortality and morbidity within mental health and they pose significant health, social and economic cost to people with eating disorders, to their families and to society. Early intervention, evidence based care, and consistent support make a profound difference to the clinical and personal recovery of people who are affected by eating disorders, including to those in adolescence when so many eating disorders begin.

In January 2018 the HSE published a National Model of Care for Eating Disorders (MOC) in partnership with College of Psychiatrists' of Ireland and Bodywhys. In the absence of a pre-existing dedicated eating disorder infrastructure or strategy, this Model of Care document has been developed in order to guide the provision of high quality, accessible and value for money eating disorder services in Ireland. Key recommendations include the development of a national network of dedicated eating disorder teams embedded within the mental health service, a stepped model of outpatient, day patient and inpatient care provision based on clinical need, and the development of a skilled, trained workforce. In the context of the significant physical morbidity associated with eating disorders, this Model of Care also recommends a strong integration between primary care, mental health services and medical teams, including the bridging of the acute hospital and mental health service divide through mutual clinical commitments and shared pathways.

Most people can and do recover from eating disorders if they receive effective, evidence based treatment from ED trained staff. While a small number of people benefit from more intensive treatment through day programmes or inpatient care, the most effective treatment setting is in the community. The MOC has a core focus on developing regional community based specialist eating disorder services provided by skilled multidisciplinary teams.

Clarification was requested from your office on 14th April 2023. We were subsequently advised by your Parliamentary Assistant of the following: “For clarification this was in relation to provision for a 10 bed inpatient adult eating disorder unit within the St Vincent’s complex and if there was plans for such”.

Currently there are 3 adult inpatient beds in St. Vincent’s University Hospital (SVUH) Hospital for Eating Disorders. To answer the specifics of your question, based on the clarification received from your office, there are no plans currently within the existing HSE Capital Plan to build a 10 bedded in-patient Eating Disorder unit for adults on the St Vincent’s Hospital site.
