PQ 17112/25* To ask the Minister for Health when the new bed block will begin construction in Nenagh Hospital. -Alan Kelly

Dear Deputy Kelly,

The Health Service Executive has been requested to reply directly to you in the context of the above Parliamentary Question, which you submitted to the Minister for Health for response.

It is the intention of the HSE to complete the procurement of a design team for the new bed block at Nenagh Hospital over the coming months and to progress the project approval process including completion of the business case.

This project will then need to be progressed through the initial design and planning permission processes before advancing to detailed design and tender. It is anticipated that construction could commence on site during 2027.

Yours sincerely

Micheál Conneely
