Deputy David Cullinane,
Dáil Éireann,
Leinster House,
Dublin 2

7th August 2025

PQ38111/25

To ask the Minister for Health the percentage of clinical status 1 ECHO incidents responded to within 19 minutes in the first six months of each year from 2019 to 2025, by region, in tabular form. -David Cullinane

PQ38112/25

To ask the Minister for Health the percentage of clinical status 1 DELTA incidents responded to within 19 minutes in the first six months of each year from 2019 to 2025, by region, in tabular form. -David Cullinane

Dear Deputy Cullinane,

The Health Service Executive (HSE) National Ambulance Service (NAS) has been requested to reply directly to you in the context of the above Parliamentary Questions, which you submitted to the Minister for response.

All 999/112 calls received for emergency medical assistance are prioritised using an internationally recognised system that triages calls based on clinical priority, which range from life-threatening- cardiac or respiratory arrest to minor illness or injury.

The NAS utilises this system to ensure the best use of resources by tasking the nearest available ambulance to the highest priority incident.

Calls for emergency service support via the 999 service have increased by over 25% since 2019, with the National Ambulance Service (NAS) responding to approximately 430,000 emergency calls in 2024, a notable increase from 390,000 in 2023. In Q1 2025, the NAS responded to 108,915 emergency calls.

Additionally, in Q1 2025, the NAS treated a total of 15,412 patients through alternative care pathways [Clinical Hub, Community Paramedicine. Pathfinder and Alternative Pre-Hospital Pathway services, with 5,897 [38.3%] of these patients avoiding Emergency Department attendance.
