

Ambassadors for Future Health Skills Programme

Health Business Services and the Office of the Chief Information Officer have collaborated with the Department of Communications, Climate Action and Environment to launch the 'Ambassadors for Future Health Skills Programme'.

The aim of this foundational programme is to guide staff through utilising the digital tools they already have access to and build on digital literacy and skills.

Modules in this programme include:

-  Introduction to the internet
-  Internet safety & security
-  Search engines & websites
-  Registration & email identity
-  Dignity at Work
-  HSE Online Payslips
-  HSE Online Services
-  Registering on HSELand
-  GDPR
-  National integrated Staff Records & Pay programme
-  How to get IT support
-  Online Voice & Video Calls
-  Email
-  Health & Wellbeing Etiquette
-  Social Media
-  Good information practice

Feedback from pilot group:

Programme content was applicable in the workplace

Agreed this programme assisted them in developing future skills

Would recommend this programme to a friend

Expressed a need for even more modules in future programmes

This course is coming to Carlow, Cork, Dublin and Kerry.

Click here to register your interest before 31st December 2019

For more information on the Ambassadors Future Skills Programme, click here

or visit <https://www.hse.ie/hbs/ambassadors/>

If you have any further queries, contact Marie.Cronin@hse.ie

Please ensure you speak to your line manager before applying for this programme.