Background

This guidance document for Civil and Public Service employers supersedes previous guidance and FAQs issued relating to Civil and Public Service working arrangements and temporary assignments during COVID-19. These arrangements apply to all Civil and Public Service employees.¹

The public service focus is to support reopening Ireland whilst continuing to protect the health and wellbeing of all our citizens. To achieve this, and to keep delivering crucial services to society, we must work together as a unified public service.

The FAQs have been prepared to assist employees and management in the Civil and Public Service to understand the process, rules and expectations associated with work arrangements during the COVID-19 recovery period across the public service.

These arrangements apply in the case of COVID-19 as a notifiable infectious disease.

These FAQs will be updated in response to queries that are received centrally. The most up-to-date version of these FAQs will be available at www.gov.ie/per.

The Civil and Public Service need to ensure that our services have the potential to be flexible and responsive to any changes that may be needed based on public health advice. Should there be a requirement for a further lockdown, previous versions of the guidance, or parts thereof, may need to be implemented. The guidance is continually reviewed, and employers will be advised of any changes.

Subject to expert public health advice in light of developing circumstances on COVID-19, the general principles or FAQ material may be subject to updating or other amendment. Employers retain the right to withdraw or amend provisions in light of developing circumstances.

¹ Individual employers will need to identify which employees fall into the category of public service employees.

Principles

The general principles to apply to the working arrangements during recovery period for COVID-19 in the Civil and Public Service include:

Public health	Business need	One Public Service
Safeguarding the health of both the public in their interaction with the public service, and employees, is central to how we organise work. Public service employers and employees must comply with measures for safeguarding public health and safety of the workplace, including related legislation and Government advice.	We must deliver the services that the public need and expect in a changing delivery environment. Openness, transparency and consistency will underpin service delivery and decision-making. The employer determines the criteria for return to the workplace according to business needs.	Throughout the COVID-19 pandemic we have operated as a unified, One Public Service and accordingly these FAQs are developed in order to ensure transparency of decision making and agree on the overriding principles which apply, while recognising individual needs of certain sectors.

1. Attendance in the work premises during COVID-19

1.1 Who should attend the employer's work premises?

The Resilience and Recovery 2020-2021: Plan for Living with COVID-19 was published by the Government on 15 September 2020.

Within the plan there is a Framework for Restrictive Measures with five levels. Below is the work-related information for each of the levels. It should be noted that the employer will determine the essential roles which need to attend the workplace throughout the levels, taking into account the differing requirements at each level of the Framework for Restrictive Measures (see table below). Regard should be had to any changes to work premises attendance that may be required at each level of the Framework and workplace attendance plans and requirements should be communicated with employees.

The provision of services to society continues to be a priority for the public service during COVID-19. In addition, the Resilience and Recovery Plan identifies many public services as being essential during this time. Employers need to enable employees to be as productive as possible at all times, both in the work premises and in a blended and distributed workplace. Employers need to continue to be innovative in terms of new ways of working including maximising and fully exploring distributed and hybrid work models, where applicable. Employees have a role to play by cooperating with employers and in being proactive in identifying how they can increase value and how their roles can be performed effectively in the new and changing environment. During COVID-19, in order to ensure maximum efficiency, employees may be assigned work outside their usual core duties/given a new role.

The Framework provides for home working to continue where possible. Home working will continue as and when deemed appropriate by the employer, having regard to the changes that may be required at each level of the Framework. Home working must be balanced with the requirement to continue to provide the most effective and efficient services to the public, in line with the provisions of the framework.

Level 1	Level 2	Level 3	Level 4	Level 5
Work from home if possible. Attend work for specific business requirements and on a staggered attendance basis.	Work from home if possible. Only attend work for essential on-site meetings, inductions and training.	Work from home unless absolutely necessary to attend in person.	Only essential or other designated workers should go to work.	Work from home unless it is for working in health, social care or other essential service and cannot be done from home.

To continue to facilitate physical/social distancing and public health requirements in the work premises, employers may consider the continuation of temporary alternative arrangements or new temporary arrangements, e.g. flexible shifts, staggered hours, longer opening hours, blended working patterns, weekend working etc. to continue to facilitate physical/social distancing and public health requirements, where feasible. There should be engagement between management and unions/associations, in line with appropriate arrangements, for any such continued or new arrangements.

Employers must ensure that all work premises have implemented robust pre-return to workplace procedures, where not already in place, and that all procedures comply with the Work Safely Protocol. These procedures should be clearly communicated to employees. The Protocol, which is a revision of the previous Return to Work Safely Protocol, was published on 20 November and incorporates current public health advice. It outlines the measures needed to reduce the spread of COVID-19 and to facilitate the re-opening of workplaces following temporary closures.

The Protocol notes that employees should be organised into pods or groups where possible. For further information on these and other health measures, employers should read the Protocol in detail.

Employers should ensure that they have properly implemented the advice in the Protocol and ensure that it is tailored, where necessary, to meet the unique set of circumstances pertaining to each sector and workplace location.

Some employers have continued to have employees in their work premises during the restrictions. Employers should ensure that the new Protocol is reviewed in respect of all employees i.e. employees required to return to the work premises and those employees who have continued to work on site. There may be additional issues to consider to ensure compliance with the Protocol for those employees who are already working onsite.

All employees have a critical role in ensuring that the procedures of the Protocol are followed to suppress COVID-19 in their workplace. It is incumbent on all employees who are required to attend the workplace to fully comply with their organisation's COVID response plan. Cooperation between employees, the lead worker representative(s) and the employer are fundamental to ensuring that the measures are adhered to.

1.2 How should employers appoint lead worker representative(s)?

The process for the selection and appointment of lead worker representative(s) should be discussed at an organisational level between employers, employees and employee representatives. There should be engagement between management and unions/associations, in line with appropriate arrangements, for engagement on the implementation of the Protocol. The lead worker representative may be a union member, or another member of staff, and will be appointed by the employer. Any arrangements should have the confidence of all parties.

1.3 What is the role of the lead worker representative(s)?

The Protocol requires that each workplace should appoint at least one lead worker representative who will assist employees and together with the employer be responsible for ensuring safety measures are being followed. Lead worker representatives should be clearly identifiable, and the employer should ensure they receive the necessary training to carry out the role.

Lead worker representative(s) should:

- Work collaboratively with the employer to ensure, so far as is reasonably practicable, the safety, health and welfare of employees in relation to COVID-19.
- Promote good hygiene practices such as washing hands regularly and maintaining good respiratory etiquette along with maintaining physical/social distancing in accordance with public health advice.
- Assist with the implementation of measures to suppress COVID-19 in the workplace.

- Monitor adherence to measures put in place to prevent the spread of COVID-19.
- Consult with colleagues on matters relating to COVID-19 in the workplace.
- Make representations on behalf of their colleagues on matters relating to COVID-19 in the workplace.

1.4 When should the COVID-19 Return to Work Form be completed?

The Work Safely Protocol COVID-19 Pre-Return to Work Form is one of the measures designed to assist with the safe return to the workplace.

Any employees who were not present in the workplace prior to the introduction of the Return to Work Safely Protocol on 9th May are required to complete the pre-return to work questions in the COVID-19 Return to Work Form before returning to the work premises. Employers should note that the questions has been updated in the Work Safely Protocol published on 20 November 2020.

Whilst the Return to Work Form is only to be completed once and the form itself does not need to be resubmitted, employers may request employees to reconsider the questions in the return to work form, for example following an extended period of absence from a workplace (e.g., following annual leave, travel or where the employee may only access the work premises infrequently). Employees should have regard to any changes in their circumstances in relation to the questions and notify their manager/HR immediately.

The content of the pre-return to work form is special category data under GDPR and accordingly sufficient safeguards should be put in place to ensure that the process for collection, processing and storing of the information is proportionate and secure. The form should be destroyed upon the employee's return to the work premises. Employers may wish to keep a log of employees who have completed Return to Work form for audit purposes. Any such log must not contain special category personal data.

1.5 What if an employee shows symptoms of COVID-19 in the employer's work premises?

It is important to emphasise that any employee who is feeling unwell should not attend the workplace. This applies to any transmissible illness during this Covid-19 emergency period.

The health and wellbeing of employees is of utmost importance. If an employee becomes unwell in the work premises, employers should ensure that arrangements are put in place which take account of the requirements in the Work Safely Protocol, the Health and Safety Authority, and the Health Protection Surveillance Centre (HPSC) website for guidance. These arrangements should be clearly communicated to employees. Sectors may need to refer to their own emergency protocols or arrangements as necessary where these exist.

1.6 What happens if a colleague is diagnosed with COVID-19?

In line with the HSE Contact Tracing Process, contact tracers will directly contact all relevant persons who have been in contact with a confirmed case, or the person will be notified through the COVID Tracker App. The instructions of the HSE should be followed and employee confidentiality is essential at all times.

Employees are encouraged to download the COVID Tracker App to their mobile device as this will assist with the contact tracing process. It should be noted that in incidents where a full Public Health Risk Assessment is undertaken, information from the COVID19 tracker application is included as part of this assessment. Individuals should follow any actions which are advised by the Medical Officer of Health / Health Protection Medical Team.

For information on management of a case or cases (an outbreak) in the workplace, please refer to the Appendix 9 in the Work Safely Protocol and the HPSC website.

1.7 Is temperature testing required?

The Protocol notes that temperature testing should be implemented in line with public health advice. Currently there is no general public health requirement to undertake temperature testing/screening in the workplace, apart from in certain sectors and workplaces where public health have advised its use. If undertaken, the results of temperature testing are considered special category data under GDPR.

1.8 Are face coverings required in the workplace?

Employees who are feeling unwell or have symptoms of COVID-19 should not attend the workplace.

Observing physical/social distancing, appropriate hand hygiene and cough and sneeze etiquette are the most important measures individuals can take to protect themselves and others from COVID-19 in the workplace. Face coverings should not be used in lieu of following physical/social distancing or proper hand and cough etiquette, but they may be used in addition to these protective measures, especially where maintaining physical/social distancing is difficult.

Office locations are not currently listed as locations where faces coverings must be worn. (Please refer to this list <https://www.gov.ie/en/publication/aac74c-guidance-on-safe-use-of-face-coverings/> for guidance.) However, employees should consider wearing face coverings in places or situations where it may be difficult to achieve or maintain 2m physical/social distancing. This might include:

- When entering and exiting buildings.
- Public access areas of buildings, including receptions/foyers and public counters.
- When moving throughout buildings to toilets, photocopiers, on stairwells etc.
- Canteens and kitchen areas (prior to and after eating) or when using facilities such as boilers, toasters.

This information is in keeping with the announcement by the Taoiseach on 27 November 2020, which referenced the recommended use of face coverings in crowded outdoor and indoor spaces.

2. High Risk & Very High Risk Categories

2.1 Should employees who are at high risk for serious illness from COVID-19 attend the work premises?

Employers should continue to facilitate this group where possible in terms of flexible working arrangements, including working remotely where such arrangements are appropriate to the business needs. Employers are working to implement measures to ensure the safety of the workplace for all employees, as provided for in the Return to Work Safely Protocol.

High risk employees who are required to attend the work premises, in accordance with HSE advice, should take extra care to practice physical/social distancing where possible and wash their hands regularly and properly. Appropriate measures may need to be considered for employees in the high risk group in the work premises where maintaining physical/social distancing is difficult.

2.2 What to do if an employee is identified as being at very high risk (extremely vulnerable) and is advised to cocoon?

Employees should declare to their employer if they believe that they are at very high risk of COVID-19. Please refer to the HSE website for more information.

The employer's Occupational Health service should be consulted for employees in the very high risk category, or to determine if an employee falls into this category.

Employees deemed to be very high risk should be facilitated to work from home to the maximum extent possible. Where an employee is very high risk, is cocooning, and working from home in their current role is not feasible, then they may be assigned work outside their usual core duties/given a new role.

Employees in the very high risk category who wish to return to the work premises should contact their HR unit for further information.

3. COVID-19 special leave with pay arrangements

3.1 When does special leave with pay apply during COVID-19?

Special leave with pay is used in lieu of sick leave for COVID-19.

Circular 2/1976, which covers special leave with pay should only apply in lieu of sick leave for COVID-19 when an employee is advised to self-isolate and is displaying symptoms of COVID-19 or had a positive test.

Special leave with pay in all sectors does not apply to individuals who are restricting their movements or who are in the very high risk category and are cocooning. Please see the Quick Guide of Scenarios at Appendix 4 for further details of exactly when special leave with pay applies.

Medical or HSE advice should be followed. The HSE sets out the latest criteria for self-isolation at this link.

The general principles applying to the management of sick leave, for example the requirement of employees to contact managers, and for ongoing contact with employees who are on special leave for this purpose, will apply. As per normal practice, all sickness absences of 28 days duration must be referred to occupational health, including absence attributed to COVID-19. Any special leave with pay granted for the purpose of self-isolation and/or diagnosis of COVID-19 will not be counted as part of the employee's sick leave record. Appropriate medical/HSE confirmation of the need to self-isolate and/or a diagnosis of COVID-19 will be required for the duration of the absence.

From 1 January 2021, in instances where an employee has a confirmed case of COVID-19, special leave with pay may continue for up to 28 days if necessary and where it is supported by a positive test for COVID-19 and ongoing medical certification. If an employee is still unwell after 28 days they will move to ordinary sick leave arrangements.

In certain circumstances, where an employee had been in the work premises² (outside the home) during the 14 days prior to commencing the self-isolation period of a positive case of COVID-19, special leave with pay may be extended beyond 28 days if necessary and where it is supported by a positive test for COVID-19 and ongoing medical certification.

² The work premises includes any location, outside the home, an employer requires an employee to attend as part of the role, e.g. field work

Managers will be required to certify that the employee was in the work premises in any of the 14 calendar days prior to commencing the self-isolation period. Any work premises attendance must have been known to and agreed by the manager in advance. Employees who attended the work premises without the knowledge or approval of their manager will not be considered to have attended for the purposes of the continuation of special leave with pay.

When granting special leave with pay, as per clause 31.2 of Circular 2/1976, “the officer will be expected to comply at once with any directions which may be given by [their] Department and to take all practicable steps to resume duty as soon as possible. Otherwise, unless adequate reason is shown for non-compliance, the question of withholding pay will arise”. Employees are not entitled to days in lieu of bank holidays whilst in receipt of special leave with pay.

In the event of non-compliance with the provisions of special leave with pay (including the requirement to provide bona fide³ confirmation of self-isolation/diagnosis of COVID-19) existing procedures, including disciplinary measures may be invoked.

The arrangements relating to the application of special leave with pay for COVID-19 is temporary, and will be kept under regular review. A further review will be carried out not later than 31 March 2021.

3.2 What arrangements apply if an employee has to restrict their movements following close contact with a confirmed COVID-19 case?

The HSE sets out the latest criteria for restricted movements following close contact at:

<https://www2.hse.ie/conditions/coronavirus/managing-coronavirus-at-home/if-you-live-with-someone-who-has-coronavirus.html>

Special leave with pay does not apply to employees who are required to restrict their movements as they are not ill.

The employer must therefore facilitate working from home. If remote working in an employee’s current role is not feasible, then the assignment of work may be outside of their usual core duties. Employees must cooperate with all such flexibilities while they are restricting their movements.

³ Bona fide in relation to a representation or communication means in good faith and well founded in fact. The employer reserves the right to request further confirmation.

In all such cases, employees remain available for work whilst at home, where they have been advised to restrict their movements as a precautionary measure.

This FAQ does not apply to employees who are required to restrict their movements arising from a decision to undertake non-essential travel abroad (see FAQ 4.5).

3.3 What if an employee has another illness?

Any non-COVID-19 illness will be recorded as ordinary certified sick leave and the usual rules governing sick leave will apply.

3.4 What documentation is required from the employee for special leave with pay?

If an employee is displaying symptoms and/or has a positive test for COVID-19 then the period should be recorded as special leave with pay. Special leave with pay for COVID-19 is being used in place of sick pay. As noted, special leave with pay should only apply when an employee is advised to self-isolate and is displaying symptoms of COVID-19 or had a positive test. Medical or HSE advice should be followed.

Appropriate medical/HSE confirmation of the need to self-isolate and/or a diagnosis of COVID-19 will be required. In the event that written confirmation is not available, the recording of medical or HSE advice to self-isolate will take the form of a self-declaration. This does not mean that employees can voluntarily choose to self-isolate. Medical/HSE advice will be required, however the reporting of same may take the form of a self-declaration in certain circumstances, where it is accompanied by text message confirmation, for example. How this will work in practice will vary based on the unique circumstances of each employer. For example, employers may wish to implement a self-declaration form on return to work (see appendix 2 for a sample), which is completed by the employee and signed off by the employer. In instances where the employee has undertaken a COVID-19 test, they may be required to provide the results to their employer, for example for occupational health purposes.

The employer should clearly communicate to employees the information required to be provided and the notification process. See guidance at the end of this document for more details on notification requirements.

Self-declarations and/or accompanying certification/confirmation should be retained by Local HR on the individual's personnel file and should be subject to audit.

For employers within the NSSO customer group the notification process will include the requirement that managers raise a case, in the same way as for sick leave, for special leave with pay on the PeoplePoint system. (Note that the employee will need to engage with management in their Department/Office in terms of certification/documentation/confirmation of test, rather than sending it to the NSSO.)

3.5 An employee is on special leave with pay, can they claim the DSP Illness Benefit for COVID-19?

Public Service employees who can avail of the special leave with pay for COVID-19 are excluded from claiming the special DSP COVID-19 illness benefit payment. Any instances of civil or public servants found to be in receipt of both special leave with pay and the COVID-19 illness benefit will be subject to disciplinary action.

3.6 What is the process for a return to the employer's work premises after a positive case of COVID-19?

Please note that this FAQ relates to a return to work in the employer's work premises. These arrangements do not preclude employees from returning to work at home at an earlier stage if this is feasible, depending on the situation of each case.

Note: Sectors may need to refer to their own arrangements as necessary where these exist.

The Civil Service CMO advises where the individual has had a positive test for COVID-19 an employee needs to be 10 days post onset of symptoms and also 5 days fever free (which may run concurrently) before returning to the workplace. Please note that the 10 days is from onset of symptoms and not the date of receiving a positive COVID-19 test result. This 10 day period does not apply to close contacts of a confirmed case. For individuals who are close contacts of a confirmed case they will need to continue to restrict their movements for 14 days. This is because it can take up to 14 days for symptoms to appear.

If employees cannot provide certification they will be asked by their manager to complete a self-declaration form (see appendix 2 for a sample form). Managers should be mindful of confidentiality and alert the employee to any follow up actions that are required on their return to work.

Any forms and/or, where applicable, accompanying certification, should be forwarded by managers to and retained by Local HR on the individual's personnel file and should be subject to audit.

NSSO customer group employees should be advised not to forward the forms or certificates to the NSSO but rather to their own organisation.

3.7 What if an employee has had a negative test for COVID-19?

For individuals who were tested because they had symptoms of coronavirus and receive a negative test result, they should continue to self-isolate until they have not had any symptoms for 48 hours. They can return to normal activities once 48 hours without symptoms.

The usual rules applying to certification/self-declaration (as per FAQs 3.1 and 3.6) continue to apply.

Note that this FAQ ONLY applies to individuals who were symptomatic. Individuals who are close contacts of a confirmed case must continue to restrict their movements for 14 days even after negative test results.

3.8 What is the legal basis for processing employee data in relation to COVID-19?

Civil and Public Service employers are obliged to provide a safe workplace, which may include the processing of health data in order to ensure that safety. Articles 6(1)(c), Articles 9(2)(b) and (g) of GDPR, along with section 53 of the Data Protection Act, 2018 (which permits the processing of special categories of personal data for purposes of public interest in the area of public health) will likely be the most appropriate legal bases for processing this data. For further information please visit the Data Protection Commission website.

4. Working arrangements during COVID-19

4.1 How should flexi-time operate during the period of COVID-19?

The normal operation of flexi-time, or equivalent attendance management rules, including any flexi-time accruals and deficits, continues to remain temporarily suspended for those employees who are working under different arrangements. This includes those who are working from home and working different shift patterns etc., which are required in order to support physical/social distancing and public health requirements.

Flexi-time arrangements were re-introduced with effect from 24 August 2020 and/or commencement of the organisation's next viable flexi period. This arrangement applies only in circumstances where employees are attending the employer's work premises and are working their normal, pre-COVID work attendance patterns.

For those employees where flexi-time remains temporarily suspended, this arrangement does not preclude employers from using clocking in and out arrangements for monitoring purposes. Any balances accrued by employees before the suspension of flexible working hours arrangements can continue to remain and be held over until the COVID-19 working arrangements are no longer in place.

UPDATED 4.2 Is special leave with pay available for caring responsibilities?

There is no special paid leave available for COVID-19 caring arrangements during this time.

Where school closures are in effect across the country due to COVID-19, it should be noted that childcare services, including childminders, and other existing childcare arrangements remain open and can continue for children of essential workers and vulnerable children. In addition, a household of an essential worker, without an existing childcare arrangement, can form a bubble with another household for the purpose of providing childcare.

The list of essential services are set out in the 'Resilience and Recovery 2020-2021: Plan for Living with COVID-19'. The list can be found on the gov.ie website: <https://www.gov.ie/en/publication/c9158-essential-services/>

In circumstances where the above options have been exhausted, employers and employees may, where appropriate, consider alternative arrangements for flexible working, including working from home and/or working adjusted hours, staggered hours, weekend work etc. to facilitate employees where necessary. Employers and employees need to be flexible and innovative in terms of ensuring that employees remain as productive as possible during this time which may include being assigned work outside of their usual core duties i.e. potentially a new role. It should be noted that actual physical presence of employees at specific times is required in certain settings to deliver services.

Any employee who wishes to avail of existing leave allowances during this time is entitled to have such requests considered by their employer, as always, including parental leave, annual leave etc.

4.3 Should employees who live with very high risk individuals attend the work premises?

Employees who are required to attend the workplace and who live with very high-risk individuals should follow the HSE guidelines to protect themselves and to minimise risk of transmission. The implementation of the Return to Work Safely Protocol is intended to minimize the risk of transmission in the workplace.

4.4 How should employers manage annual leave during COVID-19?

Although COVID-19 is expected to continue for some time, employers should take account of the importance of making sure that employees are taking their annual leave as this has been shown to improved employee wellness and reduce ill health. Employers should encourage their managers to ensure their team members are availing of annual leave in a way that supports wellbeing, and ensures that their team is supported to take their statutory minimum entitlement. It is important to ensure that annual leave is taken to avoid an excessive accumulation of untaken annual leave, which may have an impact on business continuity at a later date. Section 20(1) of the Organisation of Working Time Act provides that the times at which annual leave are granted are determined by the employer.

UPDATED 4.5 What leave arrangements apply to civil and public servants on return from non-essential travel overseas?

The general travel advice remains to avoid non-essential travel.

Ireland has implemented the EU ‘traffic lights’ approach to travel, which applies to countries in the EU/EEA (+ UK). Anyone coming into Ireland (apart from Northern Ireland and individuals arriving in Ireland from locations with a security rating of normal precautions “green”) is required to restrict their movements for 14 days, unless they undergo a test and receive a negative result (see this link on gov.ie for more details of when the test can be taken) or meet certain other criteria which can be found at this link. Employees should also be aware of the testing requirements in place at the time of travel, both for their intended destination and on return to Ireland.

Responsibility to provide for the period of restricted movement arising from non-essential travel overseas is a matter for each individual employee.

In order to protect public health, employees are required to advise their employer of any intention to travel overseas. Where there is an intention to undertake non-essential travel overseas to any country which requires a restricted movement period on return to Ireland, all employees must make provision by way of an annual leave or unpaid leave application for that period of restricted movement, in line with the normal rules applying in the relevant sector. This arrangement is applicable to all civil and public servants regardless of whether they can work from home.

In all instances, employees should continue to notify their employer of any intention to travel overseas. The security rating of countries will be regularly reviewed and may change, and employees should be aware that whatever restricted movement requirements are in place on their date of return to Ireland will apply to them. Employees should log on to www.dfa.ie immediately prior to their return to Ireland to ensure they are fully apprised of any changes to the security rating of countries, and any necessary requirement to restrict their movements.

Specific arrangements are in place for those undertaking essential travel. Employees should refer to the gov.ie travel advice page for the latest information and contact their HR unit for further details if they believe they fall into this category.

4.6 Can public sector employees on unpaid leave (e.g. parental leave etc.) claim the COVID-19 Pandemic Unemployment Payment?

No. The COVID-19 pandemic unemployment payment was designed as a short-term response for those individuals working in the private sector who became unemployed as a result of the pandemic.

4.7 How should employers treat requests for a working from home allowance?

Public service employers should not pay a daily allowance (e.g. €3.20 per day) to their employees in respect of WFH. It is open to employees to make claims directly from Revenue in respect of actual costs incurred in working from home at the end of the relevant tax year, in accordance with the relevant tax laws. Any claim in this regard is solely a matter for the individual concerned. Further details for individuals on how to claim expenses on tax returns are available at: <https://www.revenue.ie/en/tax-professionals/tdm/income-tax-capital-gains-tax-corporation-tax/part-05/05-02-13.pdf>

5. Employee Relations processes during COVID-19

5.1 How should employee relations processes be managed during COVID-19?

Usual procedures for employee relations processes such as performance management, dignity at work, discipline and grievance should continue and can be conducted remotely where necessary or appropriate. The objective is to continue facilitating a fair and timely process, whilst protecting the health and safety of the various parties involved.

5.2 How should probation be managed during COVID-19?

A flexible and pragmatic approach to the management of probation for both new entrants and promotions should be adopted. The assessment of a probationer's performance should continue and can take place remotely where necessary. Managers should ensure that probationers have clearly defined objectives and duties that continue to be evaluated on an ongoing basis, in line with the usual probationary process. Managers should continue to support and develop these individuals in their roles.

As noted in previous guidance, in exceptional circumstances it may not have been possible to proceed with the probation process and it was advised that it may be paused. A probationary period which has been paused will be resumed when the probationer returns to duties that allow for probation to be assessed adequately. If a probation process has been paused, local HR Units should formally and clearly communicate to the individuals a timeframe for resumption.

6. Temporary assignments

6.1 What is the Temporary Assignment Scheme (TAS)?

The TAS was set up on 18th March 2020 to support the health and wellbeing of all our citizens during COVID-19. Organisations' senior leadership teams were asked to determine which services were essential at the time to critical business continuity in the context of their organisational Business Continuity Plan and to identify roles and employees for temporary release to ensure essential public services across all the public sector continued to be delivered.

Our primary focus in the Civil and Public Service is to support the health and wellbeing of all our citizens. To achieve this, and to keep delivering the essential services to society, especially for the most vulnerable and at-risk, we need to be flexible and responsive in how work is managed, including coming together and working as a unified public service.

The scheme received great support from both the civil and public service, and resulted in a large number of employees being made available for placements to support crisis areas. The system proved to be extremely useful by quickly matching assignees with essential roles when required. There were also significant transfers of employees under the temporary assignment policy between departments and sectors in advance of the TAS panel.

6.2 Is the TAS currently in operation?

The scheme was reactivated on 17th September 2020 following an increase in COVID-19 cases – see Circular 15/2020 at Appendix 3.

This reactivation will safeguard the Government's priority to ensure the health of the public, whilst at the same time ensuring the continuation of public services, especially essential public services.

The Public Appointment Service, who are the administrators of the scheme, may periodically issue detailed requests to organisations seeking employees who are deemed to be releasable in the context of their business continuity plan for the temporary assignment scheme. The scheme will be used to help ensure critical services continue to be delivered during this unprecedented pandemic.

Managers of employees who are assigned through the scheme should maintain regular contact with them.

6.3 What organisation will employees be assigned to?

This is an evolving situation and demands may change. The temporary assignment scheme will be used to ensure essential public services across all the public sector continue to be delivered over the coming weeks and months.

While the initial call is from the Health Service Executive, many other essential public services may require additional short term support.

All Civil and Public Service organisations are included in the scheme and may offer or request temporary assignees.

6.4 What employees will be included in the temporary assignments scheme?

Employees at all grades and work patterns/arrangements across the Public Service will be included in the scheme.

6.5 How will employees be informed, and what will they be required to do?

Employees will be notified through their Local HR who will send on details to the Public Appointments Service. Details will include name, contact details, whether former contact tracing training was provided, and the percentage of whole-time equivalent available. Additional information may be required on the basis of the specific demands of the role.

6.6 Do all releasable employees have to accept the placement?

Yes, all employees identified by their organisation as currently releasable, are required to attend the temporary placement in order to support the delivery of essential public services as needs are identified by public service bodies in consultation with the Public Appointments Service.

A skills and location match will be facilitated through the Public Appointments Service where required.

6.7 What roles will employees be temporarily assigned to?

Employees may be temporarily assigned to work in a different role and organisation in order to support the delivery of essential public services. The Public Appointments Service will advise of role details upon issuing the request for staff.

6.8 What location will employees be temporarily assigned to?

The actual location will be determined by the particular needs and circumstances of the requesting organisation.

6.9 Is there a potential to work remotely while on temporary assignment?

The requirements of the role will determine if they can be carried out remotely. All details of the assignment will be provided by the Public Appointments Service when issuing the request for staff.

6.10 When will employees be expected to start their assignment?

All employees identified by their organisation as currently releasable, will receive details from the receiving organisation e.g. HSE, regarding their start date, role, location and hours of service.

6.11 How long will the assignment be for?

It is envisaged that the temporary assignments may be for a period of up to six months, with a possible extension where required. The situation will be reviewed in line with COVID-19 contingency measures. Local HR and employees will be notified of any developments.

6.12 What HR system will leave and performance be recorded on while on assignment under the Temporary Assignment scheme?

Assigned employees will transfer temporarily to a different employer to carry out essential duties and direct management and supervision will be provided by a temporary line manager.

They will however remain 'as is' for all functions on the HRMS/equivalent system. The temporary line manager will be required to keep all HR records for forwarding to the parent organisation upon completion of assignment.

6.13 Can employees on TA return to meet business needs in parent organisation if required?

Where more urgent business needs arise, employees may be required to return to their parent organisation.

6.14 Will employees transfer to a different employer for pay purposes for the temporary assignment?

Assigned employees will remain as employees of and be paid by their parent organisation. They will continue to receive their basic salary, any fixed, periodic, pensionable allowances in the nature of pay and other pensionable remuneration that they are in receipt of at the date of assignment. The payment of any allowance to an employee which is due to cease before the end of the temporary assignment period will terminate as previously scheduled.

6.15 Is Travel and Subsistence (T&S) payable to employees on temporary assignment?

Employees who are temporarily assigned should be treated as being headquartered at the new location. In this regard, normal Public Service and Revenue rules on non-payment of T&S for home to work travel apply.

6.16 Can employees claim overtime while on temporary assignment?

As a rule, overtime is not expected to arise for employees on temporary assignment and public servants re-assigned under these arrangements will continue to adhere to their already contracted weekly working hours.

However, should this arise, overtime may be paid in the temporary assignment post only where it has been identified as being necessary in that role; has been approved at the appropriate managerial level, and agreed by HR in the employer organisation or paying authority; and is in accordance with the agreed procedures applying to that sector/organisation. Where an employee is already in receipt of an allowance for extra hours, and where this allowance is being retained, overtime will not also be payable in the temporary assignment.

6.17 Where can queries be raised in relation to remuneration while on temporary assignment?

For individuals: Queries arising in relation to remuneration while on temporary assignment should be raised in the first instance with the employee's own local HR Unit.

For HR units: These rules are for general application. Where there are particular sectoral arrangements which give rise to questions, these should be directed to the Public Service Pay and Pensions Division of the Department of Public Expenditure and Reform for consideration.

6.18 Will a temporary assignment affect eligibility on the Civil Service Mobility scheme?

No, the temporary assignment will not affect the eligibility or waitlist position on the Civil Service Mobility scheme.

UPDATED Appendix 1: Procedure for employees and managers for absences due to COVID-19

1 (a) Procedure for employees

1. Telephone your manager⁴ before 10am on the first day of isolation to as would normally be the case for sick leave. You will be required to notify your manager of number of days you have been advised to self-isolate. You will be required to complete a self-declaration and/or provide confirmation/medical certification/satisfactory evidence of a positive test for COVID-19.
2. Please note that Public Service employees cannot claim DSP COVID-19 illness benefit in cases where they are receiving special leave with pay. Any claim for DSP COVID-19 illness benefit whilst on special leave with pay will be treated as a disciplinary matter.
3. Your manager will record your absence as special leave with pay on the commencement date.
4. By applying for special leave with pay, you agree that in the event of non-compliance with the provisions of special leave with pay (including the requirement to provide bona fide⁵ confirmation of self-isolation for COVID-19) existing procedures, including disciplinary measures may be invoked.

1 (b) Procedure for managers

1. Employees who are advised to self-isolate with symptoms of COVID-19 must inform their manager as per sick leave requirements.
2. Managers should record the absence as special leave with pay and ask the employee to provide dates and confirmation/medical certification/satisfactory proof of COVID-19 test, including date of test. The arrangements for the recording of this will vary based on each organisation's payroll/HR facilities.
3. Managers should record if the employee was/was not in the work premises (outside the home) in the 14 calendar days prior to the date of self-isolation. This will be required if the employee has a confirmed case of COVID-19 and the duration of COVID-19 related illness continues on beyond 28 days. Employees who were not in the work premises will move to ordinary sick leave thereafter.

⁴ If your manager is not available, please contact another manager in your area or your HR team. In rare situations where that is not possible, make a note of the date and times of call made and continue to try to contact your managers until contact is made.

4. Managers should make employees aware of the need to stay in regular contact and advise them of any employee assistance programme available to them.
5. Managers should alert the employee to any follow up actions that are required, including occupational health referrals, the need to provide documentation and actions on their return to work (for example return to work protocols etc.).

Appendix 3: Circular 15/2020

Reactivation of Temporary Assignment Policy and Scheme across the Civil and Public Service

17th September 2020

Circular 15/2020

Dear HR Managers,

Further to Circular 07/2020 – Arrangements for temporary assignments across the civil and public service in response to the challenge of COVID-19, and Circular 11/2020 - Deactivation of Temporary Assignment Scheme across the Civil and Public Service the Temporary Assignment Policy and Scheme are now being reactivated following the recent nationwide increase in COVID 19 cases.

While the current staffing demand from the HSE is for 50 whole time equivalent employees (full/part time) to support the work within the Contact Tracing Centres, this circular will also cover any future demands in relation to COVID from the civil and public service.

The Public Appointments Service, who are the administrators of the scheme, will issue detailed requests to Local HR Units as and when required to support any crisis areas.

We would once again like to extend our appreciation to all of you for your continued assistance and support throughout this unprecedented time. The scheme has resulted in a large number of employees being made available to support crisis areas.

Key Principles

All assignments will be temporary in nature and:

- Assigned staff will continue to remain staff members of their parent organisation;
- Assigned staff will continue to be paid by their parent organisation;
- Staff skills and experience may be factored into any temporary assignment;
- Local HR will be responsible for the identification and release of staff;
- Appropriate HSE recommended physical/social distancing will be adhered to in the context of workplace assignments;
- Training and up-skilling will be provided as necessary; and

- On completion of the temporary assignment, staff will return to their parent organisation.

Please see Guidance and FAQs on working arrangements and leave associated with COVID-19 for Civil and Public Service which will be updated as required.

If you have any further queries relating to the Temporary Assignment Scheme, these can be sent to Temporaryassignment@publicjobs.ie.

Yours sincerely,

Civil Service HR Division and Public Appointments Service

UPDATED Appendix 4: Quick guide on working arrangements

COVID-19 work arrangements – Quick Guide for Public Service Employers

Please note the scenarios are based on current public health advice available on 11 December 2020, and have been produced as a guide only. The Department of Public Expenditure and Reform will update guidance as soon as possible following any changes, however employers should ensure that they base decisions on current public health advice.

#	Scenario	Employee	Special leave with pay	Sick leave	Home working / remain available for working at home ⁷	Return to work premises ⁸
1	COVID-19 symptoms – employee is awaiting medical assessment to determine if test is required	Self-isolate until outcome known	Yes - until outcome known, then assess and follow subsequent advice (see below scenarios)	No	No	Cannot be determined until outcome known (see other scenarios)
2	COVID-19 symptoms – employee is advised to self-isolate and go for a test	Self-isolate, attend for test, wait for results	Yes - until test results known then follow subsequent advice (see below scenarios)	No - may apply after negative test result	No	Cannot be determined until outcome known (see other scenarios)
3a	COVID-19 symptoms – employee received positive test result and is unwell. Employee was	Self-isolate until 10 days from onset of symptoms and last 5 days fever free	Yes - until 10 days from onset of symptoms and last 5 days fever free	Yes – after day 28. This takes effect for any new	No	After 10 days from onset of symptoms and 5 days fever free

⁷ See FAQ 3.2 in the Guidance document on gov.ie at this link for further details on “remain available for work”. Note that at any stage if an employee states that they feel well enough to work, but have tested positive for COVID-19 or are self-isolating because they were symptomatic, the employer may facilitate working from home instead of special leave with pay, if this is feasible and agreeable to both parties. They must not attend the work premises and must also follow Medical and HSE advice as it relates to self-isolation.

⁸ Refers to any work location outside the home

	not in the work premises in the 14 calendar days prior to onset of symptoms			or open cases on 1 January 2021		(which may run concurrently).
3b	COVID-19 symptoms – employee received positive test result and is unwell. Employee was confirmed by their manager to be in the work premises in any of the 14 calendar days prior to onset of symptoms ⁹	Self-isolate until 10 days from onset of symptoms and last 5 days fever free	Yes - until 10 days from onset of symptoms and last 5 days fever free	No	No	After 10 days from onset of symptoms and 5 days fever free (which may run concurrently)
4	COVID-19 symptoms – employee received negative test result, but has been advised to attend for a second test	Continue to self-isolate until 2nd test results known	Yes - review after 2nd test results known	No – review after 2 nd test result known	No	Cannot be determined until outcome known (see other scenarios)

⁹ Special leave with pay may be extended beyond 28 days for certified COVID-19 related illness in circumstances where a manager determines that all 4 criteria below are met:

- An employee had been in the work premises (any work premises outside the home) at any time during the 14 calendar days prior to commencing the self-isolation period of a positive case of COVID-19. The attendance must have been known to and/or approved by the manager in advance.
- The employee provides their employer with medical evidence of a positive COVID-19 test including the date of this test.
- In accordance with the standard management referral process, the Occupational Health Physician (OHP) confirms that they are medically unfit to resume work.
- The OHP confirms that their absence relates primarily to ongoing COVID-19 illness, and that they are accessing appropriate medical care

#	Scenario	Employee	Special leave with pay	Sick leave	Home working / remain available for working at home ⁷	Return to work premises ⁸
5	COVID-19 symptoms – employee advised to self-isolate and subsequent negative test result	Continue to self-isolate until 48 hours after symptoms have resolved	Yes - up until date of negative test	Yes - after date of negative test if employee continues to be unwell	Where the employee is well, symptoms have resolved and awaiting the end of the 48-hour period - they can work from home/remain available for work for that period.	48 hours after symptom free
6	Employee is concerned they have COVID-19 symptoms and they are not well enough to work , but GP advises that they do not meet the criteria for COVID testing	GP may advise to restrict movements until 48 hours after symptoms have resolved.	No	Yes - where the person has been advised that they do not meet the criteria for testing for COVID.	No	On advice of GP
7a	Close contact – Employee has been advised by contact tracers that they are a close contact of a confirmed COVID-19 case – and the employee has no symptoms and has a subsequent negative test result	If the employee is the close contact of a confirmed case and they have no symptoms they need to restrict their movements and get tested. Negative test result: Restrict movements for 14 days if test result comes back negative.	No	No	Yes - person needs to be available for work (see FAQ 3.2) If remote working in an employee's current role is not feasible, then the assignment of work may be outside of their usual core duties. Employees must cooperate with all such flexibilities while they are restricting their movements.	Negative test result = 14 days

#	Scenario	Employee	Special leave with pay	Sick leave	Home working / remain available for working at home ⁷	Return to work premises ⁸
7b	Close contact – Employee has been advised by contact tracers that they are a close contact of a confirmed COVID-19 case – and the employee has no symptoms but subsequently receives a positive test result	If the employee is the close contact of a confirmed case and they have no symptoms they need to restrict their movements and get tested. If they subsequently receive a Positive test result the following applies: If the employee tested positive because they were a close contact but they have no symptoms, they still need to self-isolate for 10 days from the date of their test ¹⁰ .	Yes – but only from the date of their test	No	Yes until the date of their test result ¹¹ – the person needs to be available for work (see FAQ 3.2) while they are restricting their movements. If remote working in an employee's current role is not feasible, then the assignment of work may be outside of their usual core duties. Employees must cooperate with all such flexibilities while they are restricting their movements.	Positive test result = 10 days from the date of their test.
8	Employee has expressed concern to their employer that they may be a close or casual contact ¹²	The employee does not need to restrict their movements unless they are advised by contact tracers that they are a close contact of a confirmed case. In instances where they are a casual contact they should continue as	No	No	No	N/A – can attend. If subsequently advised they are close contact of a confirmed case then follow scenario 7.

		normal and be aware of COVID-19 symptoms.
9	Member of employee's household has COVID-19 symptoms and is sent for a COVID test - the employee feels well	Employee should restrict movements until outcome of household member test known, i.e. Household member test result negative - employee can cease restricting movements immediately. Household member test result positive - employee becomes a close contact (and thereafter follow close contact scenario).	No	No	Yes - until outcome known then: If household member's test result is positive the employee becomes a close contact and will continue to work from home whilst restricting their movements: see Close Contact scenario 7a and 7b. If household member test is negative, employee can return to work premises	Dependent on whether household member's test was positive or negative. If positive – employee becomes a close contact – see scenario 7a and 7b. If negative, employee can return to work premises.
10	Member of employee's household has respiratory symptoms but the GP advises they are not sent for a test – the employee feels well	If household member is not being tested then the employee should continue their activities as normal	No	No	No	N/A – can attend
11	Member of employee's household is a close contact of a confirmed case and the close contact feels well	If the household member feels well, then other members of the household do not need to restrict their movements.	No	No	No	N/A – can attend
